Write python code for hello world

Hello world

Hello world

I am looking for a python tutorial to help me out with my python, python. I am learning and working on a python project, but not sure if it will help me. Is there a tutorial to help me with python?

I am building a python app that will be run while I am in the background. I want to be able to ask questions and get feedback from the app. I am having trouble figuring out how to do it. I have a big idea for how to start out the app and how to read, write and use python. I would like to have some kind of feedback on how to do it. I want to keep the learning process simple, but if the